HAND PROTECTION

proforce® has created and developed a range of Hand Protection solutions to provide total levels of protection for a wide number of industrial applications.

All glove and gauntlet styles cover the basic requirements for Hand Protection featured in EN420; in addition, a number of styles offer protection beyond simple classification, including EN388 Mechanical Risk, EN407 Thermal Risk And EN511 Cold Hazard to intermediate levels of protection.

The full range of products includes carefully selected split and full grain leather styles, PVC, nitrile, vinyl, rubber, latex and knitted products.

Designed and manufactured in collaboration with leading manufacturers within the Hand Protection industry, all products are CE marked and, where appropriate, meet the BS EN standard shown.

In addition, Proforce® can provide a broader range of styles, including products providing protection to complex products providing protection to complex classifications of protection.
